

Missionary Food

One of the many educational things about going on a mission is the food you eat. As a former chef this is of particular interest to me.

During this mission I went to the market to choose from a variety of animals including bat, snake and rat. In the photo on the right I'm eating snake.

The sights and smells of the marketplaces were a delight to the senses.

Meeting With Miracles

Manado, Indonesia 2022

After a tiring 42 hour journey with three flights I arrived in the city of Manado in North Sulawesi.

Manado is a city of surprises. I certainly didn't expect to see a huge statue of the Ascension of Jesus.

Even though Indonesia is a Muslim country, there are more churches than mosques in the city of Manado.

There is a requirement to obtain police permission before any outdoor meetings. But as the Chief of Police in Manado is a Christian, we did not have any problems. God is so good.

The primary mandate of this ministry is reaching the lost. It was great to be able to preach the Gospel in the streets and market places.

My Hosts

I was hosted by Firly and Scivo (on the right of the photo) and their two children, Blessing and Tabitha.

Firly was an excellent interpreter and the family were very welcoming. Scivo did a wonderful job of being our guide and driver.

The Power of the Holy Spirit

One of the things I was asked to do was to teach the churches in Manado how to minister in the power of the Holy Spirit.

In several churches I preached a message called "The Power of Pentecost".

The response was always awesome: we saw people healed, filled with the Holy Spirit and set free.

In several other churches I preached about "The Power of Praise" and on the words of Jesus, "Lazarus Come Forth".

After every meeting the power of God fell upon the church and many were unable to stand in the presence of the Almighty God.

We give God all the glory.

After preaching in one church the pastor asked if I would speak at a special meeting to mark the birthday of the church.

We saw a great response to the message, "The Blessings of God".

Hospital Visit

It was a joy to be asked to minister in a local hospital where Scivo's father was a patient. I shared my testimony on healing and salvation and two patients gave their lives to Jesus.

When I returned home I had a message to say that all of the patients I had prayed for had been discharged. God is awesome.

The Diaspora of the Jews

Sometimes when you are on a mission you receive an unexpected blessing.

Meeting Yaakov Baruch, Rabbi of the only synagogue in Indonesia, was one such blessing. We spent time together talking about the Judaic origins of Christianity. He knew the New Testament better than most Christians I know!

Baptism

What a pleasure it was to baptise Scivo's mother. And what a setting! In an open air swimming pool heated by volcanic water.
